

Daily Appeal

MEMPHIS.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 8, 1859.

Largest Circulation in the City.

Reading Matter on Every Page.

The Official Journal of the City.

DEMOCRATIC TICKET.

FOR GOVERNOR,

ISHAM G. HARRIS.

FOR CONGRESS, TENTH DISTRICT,

W. T. AVERY.

FOR REPRESENTATIVES, SHAYLE COUNTY,

J. P. FARRELLY & W. T. FARLEY.

FOR SENATE, TENNESSEE.

HORACE GREENLEY ON THE PRES-IDENTIAL CREDIT.

A week or two since HORACE GREENLEY made a speech at Ossianville, in Kansas, copies extracts from which we publish in another column, and to which we invite your attention.

In this speech he has done much to detract the Nashville Courier very pointedly says:

"It will be remembered that the Kassas agitation furnished the basis for the present political organization and that the sense of national bloodshed in that territory, under the influence of GREENLEY and Seward's incendiary exhortations furnished the fuel from which the flames of abolition fanaticism have been kept alive ever since. On the other hand, we see his appeals, Mr. Bell and Mr. STERNBERG are in perfect harmony with GREENLEY and his followers. It is a noteworthy fact, that in the very issue on which the Black-Republican party stand, the Black-Republicans in Tennessee, their candidate, for Congress in the Ninth District, and a majority of their members in the State Senate, and the one who had been invited by him to the perpetration of the blackest crimes in re-relating the constitutional claims of the South, should speak in JOHN BELL's favor.

The Kentucky Anti-slavery Society, and the Western Anti-slavery Society, will be perched in that fusion so as to advocate a union with that party and support Seward, Bell, or Avery for the Pres-idence, the head of the opposition, and the standard-bearer for the Black-Republicans. It is no surprise, then, that Greenley and Avery are in perfect harmony, and that they are in perfect harmony with the Black-Republicans in Tennessee.

It is not wonderful that the Friends should work with upholders of the stand taken by the Opposition in Tennessee, or that its edict should advocate a union with that party

and support Seward, Bell, or Avery for the Pres-

idence, the head of the opposition, and

the standard-bearer for the Black-Republicans.

It will be perceived that in this fusion so as to include the friends of Avery, that Mr. Bell and his party will unite with them in support of those principles, and in furtherance of those objects. And he has re-good reason to do so. The Opposition leaders and organ in Tennessee are in perfect harmony with them in their efforts to break down the Democratic party, and the consequent triumph of the Black-Republicans. Who should then be the friends of as it is natural, fusion of their forces?"

THE CHARGE OF EXTRAVAGANCE AND BANKRUPTCY.

There was never a political cause within our experience, in which such a charge of extravagance and bankruptcy, as at present, was levelled against the Southern Confederacy.

The charge of extravagance and bankruptcy is a new one, and it comes from Tennessee.

We have many reasons that our weekly statement of the condition of the crops is much more approved, and considered very justly, than is the charge of extravagance and bankruptcy.

The crops were open upon six weeks ago,

when there were thirty millions of gold

locked up in the Treasury, and Mr. BREW-

AN was apalled to adopt such measures as

we did, in order to meet the emergency.

With respect to the position of American

manufacturers of cotton, at this time, account is given of their extreme condition.

They are in a state of great distress.

The crops were open upon six weeks ago,

when there were thirty millions of gold

locked up in the Treasury, and Mr. BREW-

AN was apalled to adopt such measures as

we did, in order to meet the emergency.

With respect to the position of American

manufacturers of cotton, at this time, account

is given of their extreme condition.

They are in a state of great distress.

The crops were open upon six weeks ago,

when there were thirty millions of gold

locked up in the Treasury, and Mr. BREW-

AN was apalled to adopt such measures as

we did, in order to meet the emergency.

With respect to the position of American

manufacturers of cotton, at this time, account

is given of their extreme condition.

They are in a state of great distress.

The crops were open upon six weeks ago,

when there were thirty millions of gold

locked up in the Treasury, and Mr. BREW-

AN was apalled to adopt such measures as

we did, in order to meet the emergency.

With respect to the position of American

manufacturers of cotton, at this time, account

is given of their extreme condition.

They are in a state of great distress.

The crops were open upon six weeks ago,

when there were thirty millions of gold

locked up in the Treasury, and Mr. BREW-

AN was apalled to adopt such measures as

we did, in order to meet the emergency.

With respect to the position of American

manufacturers of cotton, at this time, account

is given of their extreme condition.

They are in a state of great distress.

The crops were open upon six weeks ago,

when there were thirty millions of gold

locked up in the Treasury, and Mr. BREW-

AN was apalled to adopt such measures as

we did, in order to meet the emergency.

With respect to the position of American

manufacturers of cotton, at this time, account

is given of their extreme condition.

They are in a state of great distress.

The crops were open upon six weeks ago,

when there were thirty millions of gold

locked up in the Treasury, and Mr. BREW-

AN was apalled to adopt such measures as

we did, in order to meet the emergency.

With respect to the position of American

manufacturers of cotton, at this time, account

is given of their extreme condition.

They are in a state of great distress.

The crops were open upon six weeks ago,

when there were thirty millions of gold

locked up in the Treasury, and Mr. BREW-

AN was apalled to adopt such measures as

we did, in order to meet the emergency.

With respect to the position of American

manufacturers of cotton, at this time, account

is given of their extreme condition.

They are in a state of great distress.

The crops were open upon six weeks ago,

when there were thirty millions of gold

locked up in the Treasury, and Mr. BREW-

AN was apalled to adopt such measures as

we did, in order to meet the emergency.

With respect to the position of American

manufacturers of cotton, at this time, account

is given of their extreme condition.

They are in a state of great distress.

The crops were open upon six weeks ago,

when there were thirty millions of gold

locked up in the Treasury, and Mr. BREW-

AN was apalled to adopt such measures as

we did, in order to meet the emergency.

With respect to the position of American

manufacturers of cotton, at this time, account

is given of their extreme condition.

They are in a state of great distress.

The crops were open upon six weeks ago,

when there were thirty millions of gold

locked up in the Treasury, and Mr. BREW-

AN was apalled to adopt such measures as

we did, in order to meet the emergency.

With respect to the position of American

manufacturers of cotton, at this time, account

is given of their extreme condition.

They are in a state of great distress.

The crops were open upon six weeks ago,

when there were thirty millions of gold

locked up in the Treasury, and Mr. BREW-

AN was apalled to adopt such measures as

we did, in order to meet the emergency.

With respect to the position of American

manufacturers of cotton, at this time, account

is given of their extreme condition.

They are in a state of great distress.

The crops were open upon six weeks ago,

when there were thirty millions of gold

locked up in the Treasury, and Mr. BREW-

AN was apalled to adopt such measures as

we did, in order to meet the emergency.

With respect to the position of American

manufacturers of cotton, at this time, account

is given of their extreme condition.

They are in a state of great distress.

The crops were open upon six weeks ago,

when there were thirty millions of gold

locked up in the Treasury, and Mr. BREW-

AN was apalled to adopt such measures as